The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Runde et al.

Figures 1-7 show structure as claimed, including a lateral translation means for a pivotal armrest, wherein as the armrest is moved between a horizontal and upright position, it is displaced laterally due to the camming action between the pin 38 and slot 22. The pivot bearing includes male pin 20 on the seat engaged with the female pivot bearing 36 on the armrest.

Claims 3-15 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claims 16-20 are allowed.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Murphy, Quakenbush, Koutsky, Hakamata, Pietsch, Nomura et al, Geer, and Gryp show various features of the invention.
